Presenting a revolutionary new concept in marine teak

Superfineteak. Redefining marine teak.

Fine, straight grain, consistently rich colour, long sleek lines. Nothing looks more stunning than a beautifully finished teak deck. Exclusive and highly sought after, solid teak has become synonymous with the super yacht industry. Obtaining a regular supply of long, flawless lengths, all with uniformly straight grain and of a similar colour, is a teak specialist's dream. Until now, teak buyers have selected only the finest Burmese teak, and hand picked just the very best planks from each tree.

Perfecting the fine art of flawless teak

Now there is a totally new concept – Superfineteak. The finest quality Burmese teak is precisely engineered to create a consistently rich colour and uniformly straight grain that sets a new standard in marine teak.

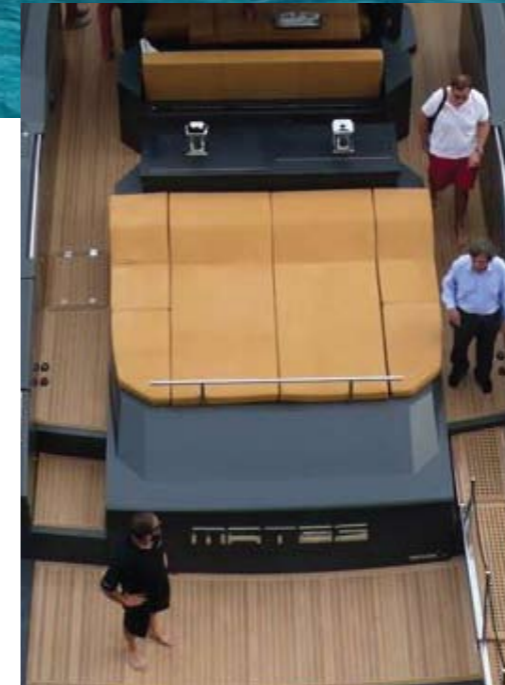

Strips of teak in a variety of thicknesses from 1.5 to 2.5mm are selected for their colour and quality, and then assembled in layers. Fused together, using the latest Akzo Nobel adhesive technology, this system creates a superfineteak plank or coverboard to any width required.

Italian design innovation

Developed by Italian teak specialists Ciemme, based in Milan, Superfineteak comes in response to high European demand for teak of a consistently superior quality on a reliable basis.

Working with Akzo Nobel, the research and development team's innovative approach has led to a product that achieves not only this, but also maximizes the productive use of all the timber felled in the Burmese teak forests.

Superfineteak has outperformed conventional teak in laboratory tests for hardness, resistance and elasticity.

Akzo Nobel product testing

Laboratory tests for physical strength, conducted by Akzo Nobel, give Superfineteak ratings for hardness, resistance and elasticity that outperform conventional teak.

F.S.C. Certified

Superfineteak has been patented and uses only timber that has been certified by the Forest Stewardship Council.

Flawless and consistent teak decking is now a reality

Thanks to this Italian innovation, consistently stunning teak is now readily available. The marine applications are limited only by your designer's imagination – teak decks, furniture, cap rails that can come in any width you require, crew's nests and gratings.

Back on land, Superfineteak is an architect's dream, creating floors, stairs and decks that bring a little nautical magic to even the most land-locked project.

Nature's best just got even better

Improving on nature's best isn't easy. Choosing Superfineteak, is.
